

Principles of publishing commercial articles in the Nowa Energia magazine

1. The heading on the article's first page shall include: the first name and surname of the author, the name of the represented institution/company and, below, the title of the article.
2. Below the title, there shall be a short summary/lead text (preferably up to 500 characters with spaces).
3. The article shall be delivered in the Word format, and graphical images (photographs, charts, diagrams) shall be in the jpg, epg or tif format, with the resolution of 300 dpi.
4. Each graphical image shall have a matching title/caption. Smaller graphical images may be grouped on one page.
5. The titles of the article's sections/subsections shall be in bold print and shall not be numbered.
6. Each bibliography item shall contain the author's surname, the initial(s) of his/her first name(s), the full title in the original language, and (1) for books: the name of the publisher, and the place and year of publication; (2) for magazines: the title of the magazine, the volume number, the year of publication, the current number, and the numbers of the pages. Russian-language items shall be transcribed. The numbers of individual bibliography items shall be without parentheses.
7. The title page shall contain 3.5 thousand characters with spaces. A full A4 page (without graphical images) shall contain 5 thousand characters with spaces.
8. The materials for publication in specific issues of the magazine shall be delivered according to the release schedule available at: www.nowa-energia.com.pl, in the tab: Wydawnictwa
9. The publisher may introduce editorial changes which relate to style, abbreviations or the article's layout but do not change the specialist content of the article.
10. Each article, after its layout composition, shall be sent to the author for final verification.
11. The materials for publication shall be sent to: redakcja@nowa-energia.com.pl.
